David Hilbert (1862-1943) was a German mathematician. He is known for his work in number theory, geometry, and the foundations of mathematics. He is also known for his famous quote: "I want to know what God has hidden from us."

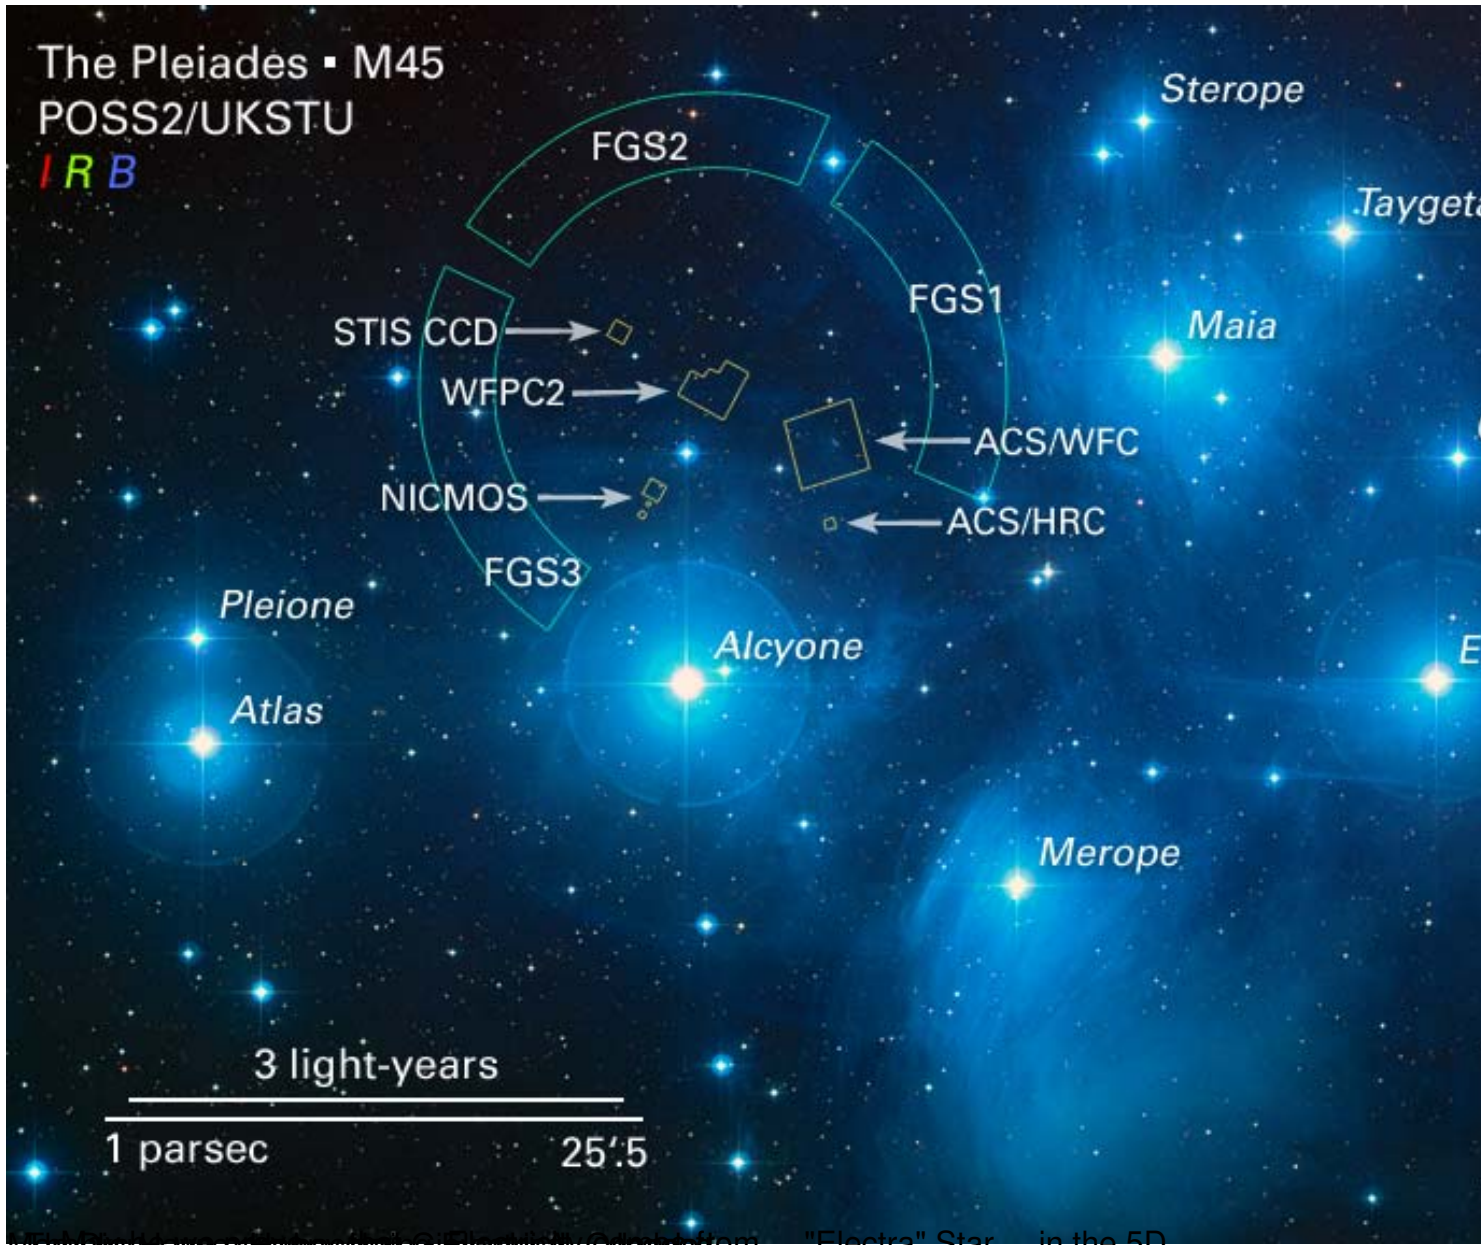

The German Democratic Republic (DDR) was a socialist state in Central Europe. It was established in 1949 and existed until 1990, when it merged with the Federal Republic of Germany (FRG) to form the reunified Germany.
